Art. 3 – THE DOCTORAL PROGRAMME

The research topics of the Doctoral Course cover the fields of philosophy, history and cultural heritage under a European perspective which refers to Europe as a macro-regional context and a historic-cultural horizon. Teaching and research activities of the Course are focused on developing wide methodological and interdisciplinary skills. PhD students are expected to reach full reliability and autonomy in their research work, to acquire specialized skills and to add new inputs to the Department's lines of research.

Specialized curricula

The variety of methodological approaches of the Course are represented by three specialized curricula, that will enable the PhD students to go deeper into specific research fields, in the frame of a single scientific community.

Philosophy. The object of analysis of this specialized curriculum concerns the origins – ancient, medieval and modern – of European philosophical thought, considered along a number of axes: logical-linguistic, ethical-practical-educational, technical-scientific and aesthetic. Focus will also be placed on the diverse religions of Europe as constitutive elements of the heritage common to the diverse range of European identities.

History. Central to the course will be the formation and development of European identities within a comparative perspective, from Greek and Roman civilization up to the present day. Particular attention will be devoted to the historical and historiographical relationship with the German-speaking world, to the building of traditions and of historical memory, and to the evolution of administrative, military and governmental structures of European regions.

Cultural Heritage. The fields of research encompass the multi-faceted cultural heritage within European geographical and environmental space through the study of archaeological evidence, products of art and music, theatre history, documents and archives.

Teaching Programme

The teaching plan includes educational and research activities for a total of 180 credits: 120 credits are assigned to research activities and 60 credits to educational activities. PhD students acquire the credits assigned to research activities by writing their doctoral theses (90 credits) and by taking part to scientific conferences and workshops (30 credits), while they acquire credits assigned to educational activities by attending seminars and lectures organized by the Course or by other scientific and educational institutions, and by attending conferences and workshops organized by the University of Trento or by other Universities. PhD students will carry out part of their studies at a foreign University or research institution on the basis of specific projects approved by the PhD Programme Committee and by the tutors.

Each teaching activity will be endorsed according to the PhD student participation and to achievement of educational objectives. Educational activities will be certified and reported on the "student portfolio" by the PhD students and regularly verified by their tutors. The activities organized by other scientific and

During the first year, the PhD students will attend at least 100 hours for activities of the above-mentioned (a) type (among which, 40 hours for courses and 60 hours for seminars); during the second year, the PhD students will attend at least 20 hours for activities of the above-mentioned (a) type and 40 hours of the (b) type; during the third year, PhD students will attend at least 20 hours of the above-mentioned (b) type.

The tutor will verify that the PhD student, in the course of the first year of the teaching plan, has acquired the necessary credits and has attended educational activities for at least 100 hours teaching. During the first year, the PhD students will have to define their research project and begin their thesis work as well.

Admission to the following year

Admission to the following year must be approved by the PhD Programme Committee, once the student's tutor has verified that the PhD student has attended all required educational activities and signed the student portfolio, and once the student portfolio has been verified by the Responsible of the Specialized Curriculum the PhD student belongs to. In order to be admitted to the following year, the PhD students must have acquired at least 2/3 of the credits provided for their Doctoral Programme, unless the PhD Programme Committee has allowed them a special dispensation (for example in order to make it possible for them to stay for a longer time abroad and carry out research activities).
